Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., (UP)—Notes written on the "500" after the motors were stilled and all the numbers were up:

You go quickly at Indianapolis . . . one minute Floyd Roberts was as alive as the thundering car he whipped into the turn at better than 100 miles per hour . . . the next he was over the wall and bound for the finish line where the checkered flag falls for keeps . . . I talked to Roberts in the pits, just before the race and his big face was all smiles . . . "I have the car that can do it," he said, "Tonight I'll have twenty grand in my kick, and you won't hear anymore about a driver not being able to win two in a row."

Here's an ironic twist: by dying, Roberts saved the 117.20 m.p.h. record he established last year . . . it required 31 minutes to clear the track after his fatal accident and the drivers were held to slow speeds by the yellow flags during this time . . . had the green flags been up all the way the winner would have had to average better than 120.

Lou Meyer had all the luck of the race—and it was all bad . . . a lap ahead at 455 miles, and with his fourth triumph just around the corner, a plain, common old ordinary flat tire knocked him out of the lead . . . the flat came at the worst possible place — in the first turn off the straightaway and a full two miles from his pit . . . he was out of it when he finished bumping around the track on the puncture . . . it took his crew but 35 seconds to supply him with a new wheel and he roared away to save second money . . . but Lady Luck had it in for Lou . . . on the 197th lap, just 7 1/2 miles from home, he went into another spin and had to call it quits.

Jimmy Snyder, the lovable madman from Chicago who won second place, is a glutton for punishment . . . a few hours after driving the 500 miles he jumped into a passenger car and started driving to Chicago . . . Snyder and Rex Mays are far and away the best actual drivers of racing cars in the country . . . unlike most of the other chauffeurs, who fight the wheel, Jimmy and Rex bullet around with the ease and assurance of papa taking the family for a Sunday spin in the two door sedan.

The 500 mile race's answer to the critics who have been lambasting it as a sorry and worthless show was an attendance of between 125,000 and 140,000 . . . Wilbur Shaw's victory in a foreign car (Italian Maserati) is expected to result in a flock of European machines to the 1940 race . . . until Shaw brought the Maserati in first, an import job hadn't won since Howdy Wilcox's Peugeot in 1919 . . . the officials would like to see Germany send an Auto Union over . . . they are reputedly the fastest thing on wheels . . . Mrs. Shaw did not give either her husband or his car credit for the victory . . . she said it was all due to the Lady Bug she found in her corsage just before the race started . . . "I tucked the bug away in my purse, it brought the luck we had to have"

No sports event in the country produces as little betting as the "500." There isn't a single bookie in the town who handles bets on the race, and there are scarcely any private wagers between individuals . . . Ray Harroun, who drove the Marmion Wasp to victory in the first race in 1911, watched the 27th running and said the modern cars made his time so slow it embarrassed him to be introduced to folks . . . Harroun won at an average speed of 74.59 miles an hour and some statisticians figured out that had Harroun been running today Shaw could have taken in a double feature movie and a Mickey Mouse after he had finished and still have been back at the track in time to see Harroun battle around the last lap . . .

ROAD IMPROVEMENT NEAR 16-MILE STONE UNDER WAY

Work was started Friday morning on improvement of a short section on U. S. Route 50 about 16 miles east of Placerville.

The improvement is made necessary by the rotting of timbers which had been used as cribbing in support of a section of the road bed. We understand the road is to be set back to a solid base at a cost of about $2,300.

Maintenance Superintendent Ed Willis, who is in charge of the work, states travel will go through the job under the control of flagmen.

PRE-SEASON FISHERMEN PAY $25 FOR PRIVILEGE

It would seem that in any activity there are always some who want to be ahead of all the rest—even in fishing.

Four were so anxious to lead the parade of fishermen that they were fishing before the opening of the season when Game Warden Al Sears chanced along the stream. Sears was so interested in the work of the fishermen that he thought of Justice of the Peace ought to hear of it, too.

But the judge didn't like the story very well, and fined each of the four twenty-five dollars.

The four were J. C. Blunt and Mrs. Johnny Blunt, fishing on the American River May 27th; and Carl Adams and Ed. Densmore, who were ahead of schedule fishing on Silver Creek.

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—Liberalization of payments under the state workmen's compensation act will become effective 90 days after adjournment of the legislature under terms of a bill signed by Gov. Culbert Olson.

Foley, D., San Jose, increases death benefits from three to three and one half times the average annual earnings, with the minimum increased from $1000 to $2000 and the maximum from $5000 to $6000. The minimum for computation of average weekly earnings is increased from $641 to $10.

CONGRESS TOLD INDUSTRY NEED

Roosevelt Hears From Industrialists At Dinner Conference

CHICAGO, (UP)—The National Association of Manufacturers told congress today that restoration of public confidence — by clarifying government policies, tax revision and evidence of intent to balance the budget—is one of the most important requirements for economic recovery.

The association also renewed its demand for an investigation of the operations of the Wagner act and the national labor relations board and a comprehensive revision of the act.

The demand was made in a statement adopted by the association's board of directors at its annual mid-western meeting last night.

CONFERENCES HELD WASHINGTON, (UP)—Eight top flight industrialists left President Roosevelt today a candid picture of business problems which they believe must be tackled immediately if economic equilibrium is to be restored.

The men, all members of the business advisory council, dined at the White House last night and later met Mr. Roosevelt in his second floor study. They discussed the economic situation with him for two hours. No formal announcement was made but it was learned from one of those present that the business leaders "got off the chest" in a friendly manner many of the things they felt the President should hear.

All phases of the economic situation were discussed, it was learned, including such topics as labor, taxation, business legislation and government regulation.

Those attending were W. Averill Harriman, chairman of the board of the Union Pacific Railroad and council chairman; A. R. Whiteside, president of Dun & Bradstreet; E. R. Stettinius, Jr., United States Steel Corporation chairman; J. F. Fogarty, president of the North American Company; Carle C. Conway, chairman of the board, Continental Can Company; Gano Dunn, president of the White Engineering Corporation; and John D. Biggers, Toledo, O., glass manufacturer.

Back She Goes!

Martha LeClair puts a five-pound wall-eyed pike back in the stream at Clayton, N. Y., as game wardens and sportsmen keep day and night vigil on the run of the speckled beauties in Jefferson County to protect them from out of season poachers and toss back those forced out by the mass of hurrying fish behind them.

The week's postponement was made necessary by the circumstance that Prof. Brown was unable to be present on the date originally set.

SOUTHSIDE CENTER MET AT SUMMIT SCHOOL THURSDAY NIGHT

The regular meeting of the Southside Farm Center was held Thursday night at the Summit School, Chairman Merle Cannon presiding.

The meeting discussed plans for the annual farm bureau overnight camp at Lake Tahoe June 24 and 25 and heard reports on 4-H Club activities and of committee work in regard to the calf slaughter law and road problems. Farm Advisor Lilley spoke. Following the meeting there were games and refreshments.

Looking forward to the next meeting of the center, there was felt to be some probability that members of the Rescue center may unite for the evening's program, although no definite plans in this connection were announced.

4 ESCAPE WRECKED SUBMARINE AS TIDE COVERS SHIP

British Admiralty Expresses Confidence 88 Men Aboard Are Still Alive; Hope To Cut Hole In Stern To Release Crew

ABOARD OBSERVATION SHIP, Via Liverpool, (UP)—All the 88 men still in the helpless hulk of the British submarine Thetis are believed to be alive, officers of the rescue destroyer Brazen said today.

A United Press correspondent, who reached the scene of the disaster, found the Thetis standing on her blunt nose with her tail reared in air and her snout buried in the waters of the Irish Sea.

NOVA MAY MEET LOUIS SOON

"Story Book Kid" Takes Terrific Battering But Pounds Baer To Pulp

By HARRY FERGUSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, (UP)—There's another Tunney on the path that leads to the peaks today—a story book kid from California named Lou Nova, who, barring fire, flood or epidemic, is going to be fighting for the heavy championship of the world by the time spring marches north again.

One thing was settled once and for all last night inside the green ropes—Nova can take it. Five times Baer got a clean shot at his jaw and five times Maxie whistled across the right that sent Frankie Campbell to his grave. Nova shook 'em off and came on.

Nova didn't win on a technical knockout until the 11th round, but to this observer it seemed that the issue was settled and sailed away in the mad three minutes that made up the second round. In those three minutes Baer fired everything in his arsenal and a bewildered sort of a look came across his face as Nova took it all and bored in, inviting more.

In the middle of the round Baer slammed Nova back against the ropes with a right to the head. He had him pinned there, all set for the kill. Once, twice, and a third time Max drew his right and fired. Nova tried to throw a right and missed badly and then, for the fifth time in the round, Baer cocked his right and sent it across like a rocket. But instead of dropping, Nova fought his way off the ropes and pulled Baer across the ring.

The rest of the fight was a liberal education in the art of carving up a man's face. Baer had fired his last shot and Nova went to work on him like a butcher.

Between the 10th and 11th rounds Referee Frankie Fullam walked to Baer's corner and said: "I ought to stop this fight but I'll give you one more round."

That's all Nova needed. In one minute and 21 seconds of the 11th he had Baer's back to the ropes and was pounding him into pulp. Then the referee stopped it.

It was about time.

Lower Fares Due On Bridge At Bay

SACRAMENTO, (UP)—San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge commuters looked forward today to "immediate" 20 per cent automobile toll reductions as the result of an agreement under which the Reconstruction Finance Corporation will allow the toll bridge authority to sell bridge bonds.

Tolls will be cut from 50 to 40 cents within a month, Gov. Culbert Olson said, and later will be reduced to 35 cents.

"VIGILANT, CAREFUL WATCH KEPT FOR ESPIONAGE

WASHINGTON, (UP)—Attorney General Frank Murphy revealed the government has taken extraordinary measures to guard against espionage on the west coast, particularly at San Francisco.

Murphy said the government had taken up a "vigilant, careful" watch against spying and sabotage in the area. He said the new measures had been adopted at least partly because of an unprecedented number of suspected sabotage acts in airplane factories.

He said similar measures would be taken in the east "if necessary," and pointed out that the "geography and military position" on the west coast made the area susceptible to spying.

The correspondent arrived at the scene, 14 miles off the coast of North Wales, at 9 a. m. aboard a 40 foot motor launch and watched one of the four rescued men pop to the surface of the water strapped in a Davis oxygen "lung" and mask.

The stern and propeller of the stricken submarine jutted out of the water about 18 feet, at an angle of about 45 degrees.

The cruiser Brazen, the salvage vessel Vigilant and the tug which accompanied the Thetis on her ill-fated undersea trials yesterday morning were grouped around the spot.

Two rowboats from the Brazen and two from the Vigilant circled the stern.

As the correspondent's launch came within 15 feet of the Brazen a man's head suddenly bobbed above the water. He was lifted into one of the rowboats by eager hands.

The rising tide and the complete submerging of the submarine retarded, at least until nightfall, the plans to burn a hole in the stern with oxyacetylene apparatus and lift the entrapped men to safety.

COLORADO DECISION ON CHAIN STORE TAX RENDERED

DENVER.—The Colorado supreme court today handed down a decision of far-reaching importance threatening possibly to upset both national and state legislation proposing discriminatory taxation of chain stores. This decision holds that a group of some thirty-five independently owned auto supply stores operating under the Gamble-Skogmo franchise come under the provisions of the Colorado Store License or Chain Store Tax Act. The decision holds that the use of the Gamble-Skogmo name, uniform store front, and contractual relations for supplying of merchandise all give Gamble-Skogmo Inc. control within the meaning of the act. This reverses the decision of the lower courts.

State Treasurer Charles M. Armstrong expressed the opinion that all voluntary and cooperative chains and all oil stations which use a common store design and name may come under the chain store tax by reason of this decision. Thus such so-called voluntary chains may have to pay the graduated chain store tax in Colorado. If the principle is sustained such organizations will have to pay in twenty-one other states that have chain store taxes. Armstrong announced he will immediately examine all contracts and bring action where the same conditions apply.

Washington University Council Dissolved

ST. LOUIS.—The student council of Washington University here has been dissolved by a vote of its members as the result of feeling on the part of the councilors that it did not have the power in university affairs that students believed its existence warranted.

The action was taken at a special meeting after members expressed dissatisfaction with the status of the council in its relationship with the administration and the student body. The council was formed more than 20 years ago to represent the student body in governmental affairs of the university.

Parker Dam To Create 'Havasu Lake'

WASHINGTON, (UP)—"Havasu Lake" was selected as the official name of the body of water created by construction of Parker Dam on the Colorado river, 150 miles below Boulder Dam. In the Mohave Indian language, Havasu means blue.

Troop 57 News
Troop 57 played the part of the "Good Samaritan" and rescued "Les Miserables" of troop 67 by taking them to and from the Camporee at Sacramento last weekend.

Although, as usual, we handed our home-town contemporaries a good lacing, we found that there were a few things we didn't know about Camporees. We were amazed by the improvised tables, coolers, cooking equipment, fancy tents and tremendous ability to smuggle soda and other contraband articles into camp that other patrols possessed. However, live and learn!

Just a few impressions of the of the Camporee—Troop 17, of Sacramento, had a swell camp and even found time to publish a newspaper that was the envy of the Camporee boys from Arden, who came to the Camporee in a covered wagon. I will know better next time than to trust the S. P. Ls with their horse. The animal got loose in the night and set the camp in uproar. Diamond's Troop 95 was rated as high as any troop in Camporee. All in all, it was a hot camp in more ways than one!

The Merit Badge Councilors had better hurry for cover, for the rush is on. Everybody, from Tenderfoot to Eagle Scout, is after the badges and the glory that goes with them. The presentation will be made at the Court of Honor at the Court House June 13. The board of review, a check on the boys' knowledge of merit badge subjects, will take us over the coals on the seventh of June. Be Prepared!

Just for some relaxation, we plan to hold a troop swimming party at the pool at 5:00 p. m. Friday. Bring your own supper, boys.

We take this opportunity to thank all those who marched for our troop. You BOTH did a swell job! The Green Bar Patrol, will meet at Gene Springer's home on Sunday evening. —Bill Dillingier.

"SHARE THE HUSBAND" PLAN OF CHICAGO HOUSEWIFE PUZZLES SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE WHO CONTINUES CASE TO JUNE 7TH

CHICAGO, (UP)—A "share-the-husband" plan invented by Mrs. Mary Petersen, 46, so her husband could spend alternate days with a widow who had been his childhood sweetheart, puzzled superior court judge, Rudolph Desort.

The husband is Nelson M. Petersen, 53, a former locomotive engineer. Under the plan his wife worked out he belonged to her on Christmas Day and to Mrs. Caroline Bertram, 51, on New Year's Day. In addition, Mrs. Petersen agreed that Mrs. Bertram could have him on all the odd-numbered days of the month. On the even-numbered days he was hers.

Details of the strange arrangement were revealed yesterday when Petersen and his wife appeared in court in an attempt to make him pay $30 arrearage she claims he owes her for separate maintenance. Petersen introduced a letter his wife wrote to Mrs. Bertram after the sharing system started in 1934. In it Mrs. Petersen complained that Mrs. Bertram had not played fair.

"My husband is going to be home on his birthday (Jan. 28)," the letter said. "If you want to come for coffee and cake, it is all right with me. But remember, you are not playing fair with me when you keep him the nights he is supposed to be home."

"Well, he is going to be home on my nights. If he isn't he is not going to be at your house, either. So

MENJOU, CAGNEY STARS IN 2 MAJOR PICTURES AT EMPIRE

"King of the Turf," now showing at the Empire theater with "The Oklahoma Kid," on the same bill, presents Adolphe Menjou in a screen characterization which shows him first as a down-and-out of the lower fringes of humanity and then as one of the most spectacular and colorful figures of the racing and gambling world. The film also introduces to screen audiences 15-year-old Roger Daniel, who is being hailed in Hollywood as the screen find of the year. Daniel was selected for the important role of the jockey after Small completed one of the most thorough and painstaking talent hunts known in the film city.

"King of the Turf" was directed by Alfred E. Green, and its story is told against such exciting backgrounds as world-famous racetracks, smart turf and jockey clubs, swanky bars, casinos and cafes and fashionable resort colonies. In support of Menjou and young Daniel, who play the principal starring roles, Producer Small selected a supporting cast which includes such outstanding names as Alan Dinehart, Dolores Costello, Walter Abel, Wm. Remarest, George McKay and Tom Hanlon.

"The Oklahoma Kid," Warner Bros.' stirring cavalcade of America's westward march, starring Jas. Cagney, also features Humphrey Bogart, Rosemary Lane, Donald Crisp and Harvey Stephens.

It is against an altogether different type of background than is generally associated with Cagney that the tough yet charming young, red-head displays in his new picture his inimitable gift for lusty, he-man drama.

This picture is laid in the wild and lawless days when the Indian Territory was being opened to settlement, and one of its most impressive scenes is the beginning of the famous land rush of 1893 in which some 30,000 homesteaders raced across country to stake out sites in newly opened Indian territory.

Only 3 out of 579 dairy cows tested for Bang's disease in Yavapai County, Arizona, were reactors.

both of us will be without him. Last night was my night and I was supposed to go with him to cash his check and shop. You took my place. Is that fair? I am fair and square, but you are not.

"Christmas was my day and New Year's Day was yours, so figure it up and see whose day it is on his birthday. The uneven numbers in January are yours and the even numbers are mine. Now, think what you'll do if I have it fixed so you can't have him at all. How would you feel then?"

Mrs. Petersen charged her husband married Mrs. Bertram at Crown Point, Ind., in 1936. She said she was a witness to the ceremony. Petersen said he had motorized to Crown Point with the two women but that there had been no marriage.

Judge Desort ran his finger around his collar. It was a hot day and the testimony was confusing. He said he would take time to study it.

"June seventh may be cooler," he said. "Case continued until then."
